Tarkett Hospitality Introduces the Inky Collection: A Fusion of Artistry and Performance

DALTON, Ga. (November 4, 2025) – Tarkett Hospitality, a global leader in innovative and sustainable flooring solutions, is proud to announce the launch of its new Inky Collection, a line of broadloom carpet inspired by the expressive depths of ink. The collection draws inspiration from various art forms, including the fluidity of calligraphy, sumi-e ink painting and shibori tie-dyeing. Designed for public spaces and corridors, the large-scale patterns create a dreamy, atmospheric mood for guests, while exploring the emotional resonance of flowing ink as it pools and saturates its medium.

The collection's seven styles showcase a play of transparency and depth, featuring painterly splashes, delicate strokes and stylized ripples. The intricate tie-dye techniques of shibori are reimagined in visuals of undyed "resist" patterns layered on tonal undercurrents. Merging subtlety and spontaneity, the Inky Collection provides a respite from the everyday, creating an effortless, immersive experience for guests. The collection's palette includes four colorways, spanning sophisticated grays, rich taupes, refreshing blue-greens, and the black tones and indigos of traditional inks.

"At Tarkett Hospitality, we believe that flooring is more than just a surface; it's an essential element of the guest experience," said Kim Drautz, president of Tarkett Hospitality. "The Inky Collection is a perfect example. It's a true collaboration of art and science, where we've taken the beauty of hand-drawn artistry and translated it into a durable, high-performance flooring solution that will inspire and delight designers and their clients."

The Inky Collection is created in Tarkett's Hospitality's cut-and-loop Vivid construction, which enables a complex use of color alongside precise patterning, serving as a perfect canvas for the collection's compositions. The colorways and patterns remain vibrant under heavy traffic because the carpet is constructed with 100 percent solution-dyed Lextron™ Enviro-Green fiber. The fiber is engineered to be exceptionally durable and resistant to fading and stains, making maintenance easy. Additionally, the fiber is made with 10 percent pre-consumer recycled content. Tarkett is committed to creating a circular economy where nothing goes to waste, and its entire portfolio showcases sustainable solutions. Customers can participate by using Tarkett's

ReStart® flooring take-back and recycling program, ensuring old flooring is diverted from landfills.

"The Inky Collection, with its handcrafted feel and subtle imperfections, provides a unique canvas for designers to create memorable, soulful environments," said Ericka Whitaker, senior director of marketing and segment at Tarkett Hospitality. "It allows designers to tell a story through the floor, creating a sense of place that is both beautiful and deeply personal."

By blurring and blending surface and depth, imagination and reality, the Inky Collection helps create new moods that resonate with guests. For more information or to request samples, please visit www.tarketthospitality.com or contact your local Tarkett Hospitality sales representative.
